The region of the Sierra de Segura is located in the northeastern part of the province of Jaén and is a typical mountain area, which is a determining factor for the maintenance of its traditional culture and its natural resources.

The natural wealth of the Sierra de Segura and the adjoining Sierras de Cazorla and Las Villas, deserved the declaration of Natural Park, being the largest Protected Natural Area in Spain. A territory declared a Biosphere Reserve by Unesco and a special protection area for birds, thus forming part of the whole region of the Natura 2000 Network. It is essential to taste recipes of typical dishes and sweets, where its rich olive oil has always been present.
